Course Description:

Survival skills are not just for the backpacker, outdoorsman, or sportsman any longer. The tsunami of 2004 and Hurricane Katrina has shown us all that Mother Nature has a power that requires respect and preparation. Personal and our Family's survival is everyone's responsibility. Survival Fundamentals will prepare the individual to apply the basic 5 priorities of survival. These skills can be applied to every situation where your survival is a matter of knowledge and skills. The first step in any survival situation is the preparation of your most important survival tool- Your Brain

Through academic preparation and practical hands on re-enforcement the individual will achieve the confidence to survive the survivable. The basic survival priorities, Preparing for and prioritizing your current survival needs will be discussed as they change for every situation. An overnight stay in your constructed shelter, putting your new knowledge and skills to the challenge will send you home confident and ready.

Prerequisites: None / Open to all
